IN introducing their Brand somewhat particularly to the Indian Public, Messrs. WACHTER & Co., who have for many years enjoyed extensive Patronage in the United Kingdom, the Australian and other Markets, desire to call special attention to a few of a series of flattering Communications they have been honoured by receiving from the Gentleman of Her Majesty's Cellars. To these they have added a few Extracts from the journals of the day, and with such Testimonials they venture confidently to ask for a share of the Indian Trade, satisfied that they will be able to meet the wishes of the Consumer through the Agency of the oldest Wine House in India, Messrs. CUTLER, PALMER & Co., whose long acquaintance with the country, its requirements, &c., will place this beyond a doubt.

Messrs. W. & Co. would add that as the Prince of Wales is shortly to visit India, they have shipped ample supplies to meet the demands of those whose privilege it will be to entertain His Royal Highness.

Messrs. WACHTER & Co. have also been instructed to place on board the SERAPIS a supply for the use of H. R. H. the PRINCE OF WALES; while Messrs. CUTLER, PALMER & Co. will hold, in a few weeks, stocks of the same Wines, which they confidently anticipate will be as much appreciated in India as they are in England.

WITH reference to the above, we have the pleasure to inform our Constituents that a further SUPPLY of this CELEBRATED BRAND is to hand ex s. s. INDUS. Price in Bond Rs. 42 for a dozen Quarts, and Rs. 44 for 2 dozen Pints

CUTLER, PALMER & Co. Bombay, 27th Aug. 1875.

GYMKHANA KIT.

TREACHER AND COMPANY, LIMITED, have the pleasure to announce the arrival of further supplies of GYMKHANA KIT, which have been carefully selected by Messrs. JAMES LILLYWHITE & Co., for whose manufactures they are the SOLE AGENTS in this Presidency. The Company claim a superiority for these articles over similar importations to this country, being selected with a special view to the requirements of the Indian climate by a firm who are acknowledged to be the first in London for Cricketing materials, and whose practical knowledge secures to constituents advantages rarely obtainable in India.

By special arrangements TREACHER & COMPANY are in a position to offer this kit at a small increase on English retail rates guaranteeing it at the same time to be of the best manufacture.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1875.

WHEN men are without the means of supplying themselves with conveniences which it would really be better for them to have, it is surely a lamentable thing that they spend money to produce discomfort. And when the exigencies of life compel all working men to spend a great portion of their time amid surroundings offensive rather than pleasing to the eye, it is a pitiful thing that they must needs go and purchase for pleasure and adornment what is only painful and ugly. It would take some time to enumerate all the ways in which we are guilty of these and similar follies. For the present we will consider only one—namely, the way we dress ourselves, and of this only one item—namely, ladies' dress in India. This is a subject to which we have lately referred, and it is one that requires constant reference. What a strange thing is it that our Chaplains should seem to be at such a loss for topics, that they should have so little to say to their congregations beyond what Biblical commentators address to the world at large, when they have such evidence of idle objects and wasted resources staring them in the face. What a position of power is the pulpit of a fashionable Church from which to preach against such follies as we speak of with illustrations laid out in rows before it. But merely to point out or declaim against these follies would be vain. The question is what can be done, or rather what can individual ladies take upon themselves to do without too far shocking that public opinion which they cannot help respecting. And it is plain that ladies in India are at an advantage here as compared with those at home, both because their society is smaller and organisation consequently easier, and because innovations in dress, coming as they do from home, do not make their appearance here quite so unexpectedly as they do there. And it is easier to decline a new absurdity than to put away anything that has actually come into vogue. Thus without breaking away from English fashions, as a whole, a few ladies in each large town in India might have arranged among themselves to withstand some of the more egregious extravagances of fashion—for instance, that they would not tie bundles of dead hair on the backs of their heads, that they would not wear boots that throw the body out of its natural perpendicular, or dresses that interfere with comfortable walking, and that, as the head requires some kind of covering, they would wear their bonnets on their heads and not at the back of them. The question of precedence is one that receives a ludicrous amount of attention in India, particularly among ladies. Is there no obligation attached to precedence? Is it simply a right to be led into dinner first, or is it not their duty also—we will not say to reduce fashion to reason—but at least to protest by their example against the most monstrous of its absurdities.

We have complained of expense as well as the infliction of ugliness, and, though the rejection of such innovations as we have spoken of is directed more immediately to the latter evil, it would not be without influence on the former. For we believe there is an actual charge for fashion, and the more idiotic the new change is probably the greater is the charge for it. Nay, the fashion-makers are here quite logical, for, as they seem never to be guided by reason, the more they are guided by the reverse the more they should charge for it. Again, when the change in fashion is one of material as well as of mode, the price of the material suddenly in vogue must rise; and, when the change is of a striking character, probably large stocks of last season's purchases are rendered useless. The more the extravagancies of fashion are curtailed the more nearly would the fashions of different years assimilate, and, as a reasonable standard drew near, we should find that articles of ladies' attire might be worn longer and longer until we should actually find them being worn out. And this very important consideration remains, that, as the fashion-makers found themselves precluded from producing novelty by merely senseless extremes, they would endeavour to do so by real improvements in design. And in time ladies' dress would be comfortable and beautiful. What a change to contemplate! Then also would ladies have proper scope for exercising their taste in dress. It is no uncommon thing now to see a lady dressed in most perfect taste as far as fashion permits. But though the taste be faultless the effect, but that we are used to it, is most ludicrous. And what are we to say of cases where bad taste is joined with absurd fashion? Fearful and wonderful is the most natural exclamation. Let any lady contemplate the rest of her sex assembled at any fashionable gathering; let her dismiss from her mind that previous notion, which has unfortunately been built up and strengthened within her all her life, of what a lady's appearance ought to be, and come impartially to the contemplation as if it were of some new kind of being she had never seen before, and then let her ask herself whether those objects before her are really beautiful. And after considering the result let her reflect what were the means at hand for producing it. To human eyes at least there is beauty in the human form and special beauty in women. And it is a special gift of humanity to be delighted with form, with colour, with variety. Well, all these are here. Lives of men have been spent in devising and producing them. Every creature of nature, animate or inanimate, has been sacrificed or used or laid under tribute in some way in supplying the materials. By the art of man fabrics are now made almost as beautiful as flowers; these and the skins of beautiful animals, and the feathers of beautiful birds, and flowers themselves are all at the service of ladies for them to adorn themselves withal. And what is the result? Certainly it is not beautiful. It is a pitiful return for the labour and taste and money employed. And it is in the hands of ladies to change all this; and, as we have pointed out, to make the first great steps, great in their effect not in the effort they require, is particularly within the power of ladies in India.

RETURN VISITS BY H. E. THE GOVERNOR.

ON Thursday last, His Excellency the Governor paid return visits to His Highness the Gaekwar at his temporary residence at Lall Baug, Parell; to the Rajah of Kolhapore at Sunkersett House, Tardeo Road; and to the Rao of Kutch at Mr. Nowrojee Ardasir Davur's bungalow at Breach Candy. As to the rest of the Princes, Chiefs, and Sirdars, now in Bombay, the "happy despatch" was committed yesterday, and will be committed to-day, at the New Secretariat. It was a peculiar mode of returning visits happily invented, in the opinion of some officials, for Sir Philip Wodehouse. It is apt, however, to be associated in the minds of the native multitudes with a slight to their Princes and Chiefs; and we heard it remarked by a man accompanying one of the Rajahs at the reception yesterday, that His Excellency would have done well to have passed the day at his ease at Government House instead of calling the Princes and Chiefs along way off to his own place of business (the Secretariat) for the purpose of paying return visits to them. His Excellency arrived at the New Secretariat shortly before 11 A.M., and was received with military honours by a party of 50 men of native infantry, who paraded in the south side of the compound. A "very strong" body of native police, under the orders of Mr. R. H. Vincent, special Deputy Commissioner of Police, guarded all the main entrances and preserved order in the Mayo and University Roads, where a large crowd of natives had assembled to see the Rajahs and Chiefs coming and going. A number of sepoys of native infantry formed a double line along the corridor and passage outside the Council room on the first storey, where the reception was held. Police sepoys were stationed at the top of the ground staircase on each storey, so that none of the clerks and peons in the different departments of the Secretariat could get access to the Council room and its passages, in order to catch a glimpse of the proceedings within. The carriages of His Excellency and staff and of the several Chiefs and Sirdars entered at the south gate and proceeded to the main entrance of the building, where their occupants alighted. The carriages were then marshalled on the north side of the building, and received the Chiefs at the north entrance on their departure. Each Chief was received at the top of the staircase by Mr. E. James or Mr. Lee-Warner, Under Secretary, and an aide-de-camp to the Governor, and escorted to the Council room, where a sort of dais had been improvised. Each Chief, who was understood to be visited by the Governor, conducted His Excellency to a seat on his right hand. Immediately to the Chief's left hand were seated the Political Agent and the Chief's principal attendants. On the right of His Excellency the Governor were seated the Chief Secretary, the Under-Secretary, Political Department, the Private and Military Secretaries to the Governor, the Oriental Translator, and His Excellency's personal staff. Utter, pan soparee, and garlands of flowers were given by the Chief himself to the Governor, and to the Government officers and His Excellency's staff by the principal officers of the Chief. His Excellency spent the day in returning visits in the manner above described, and left the Secretariat about half-past 5 P.M. A salute of 17 guns each was fired on his arrival and departure. The names of the Chiefs who were visited, and the time at which each visit was paid, are noted below:—

11- 0 A.M.—H. H. Keshrisinjee, Maharaja of Edar.
11-10 A.M.—H. H. Moh-bat Khanjee, K C S.I., Nawab of Junagarh.
11-20 A.M.—H. H. Jam Shri Vibhajee, Jam Saheb of Nowanagar.

3-20 P.M.—Thakore Saheb Bawajeeraj Meramanjee of Rajkot.
3-30 P.M.—Thakore Saheb Dajeeraj of Wadhwan.
3-50 P.M.—His Excellency Ibrahimkhan Yakoobkhan, Nawab of Junjeera.
4- 0 P.M.—Malharrao, Raja of Jawhar.
4-20 P.M.—Shankerrao Saheb, Pant Sucheo of Bhor.
4-40 P.M.—Mudhojirao Jaurao Naik Nimbalkar, Chief of Phulton.
4-50 P.M.—Venkatrao Ghorparay, Raja of Mudhol.
5- 0 P.M.—Dhundirao Chintamon alias Tatia Saheb, Chief of Sangli.

ADDITIONAL RECEPTION AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

ON Thursday last, His Excellency the Governor received visits at Government House, Parell, form the Nawab of Radhanpur and the Dewan of Pahlunpur, who arrived in Bombay on the preceding day. A guard of honour, consisting of 50 men of native infantry, paraded at the main entrance to Government House; and the Governor's Band played appropriate airs during the visits.

THE NAWAB OF RADHANPUR.

The Nawab arrived at 4-30 P.M. in one of the Governor's carriages attended by an aide-de-camp to His Excellency. An escort of 8 native cavalry was in attendance. Gentlemen of the Nawab's suite followed in the Nawab's own carriage in the rear of the escort.

A salute of 11 guns was fired from the Saluting Battery at Parell on the arrival of the Nawab, and the guard of honour presented arms as he alighted from his carriage. The Nawab was received at the top of the grand stair-case by the Under-Secretary, Political Department, by whom he was conducted into the Durbar-room, at the entrance of which he was met by the Chief Secretary to Government in the Political Department. His Excellency the Governor received the Nawab, standing on the carpet. The Nawab then took his seat on the right of His Excellency. On the right of the Nawab were seated the Political Superintendent, Colonel Shortt, and beyond him the principal officers of the Nawab. On the left of the Governor were seated the Chief Secretary and Under Secretary to Government, the Oriental Translator, and the personal staff of His Excellency the Governor. The Nawab on entering offered the usual nuzzur of gold mohurs, which was remitted, as no khillats were to be conferred on this occasion. The Nawab's officers were presented to His Excellency the Governor by the Political Superintendent, and also offered nuzzurs which were remitted. Pan soparee and garlands of flowers were served to the Nawab at the close of the Durbar by His Excellency the Governor, and by the Under-Secretary to the Nawab's officers. The Nawab then left, accompanied to the gates of Parell by the deputation that attended him to Government House. On his departure a salute of 11 guns was fired, and the guard of honour presented arms. He was escorted to his residence by the party of native cavalry.

THE DEWAN OF PAHLUNPUR.

Precisely the same ceremonies were adopted for the Dewan, who was escorted to Government House soon after the Nawab of Radhanpur. He was received with the same escort and the same honours, and a salute of 11 guns was fired from the Battery at Parell on his arrival and also at his departure.

A FIRST class telegraph office will be opened at Government House, Malabar Point, to-day.

IT is expected, the Englishman affirms, that Mr. J. Monteath will be appointed to officiate as Under Secretary to the Bombay Government when Mr. James assumes the office of Post-master General.

IT is stated that Mr. Aitchison, Foreign Secretary, together with Captain Farmer, A. D. C., and Captain Barnett, will join the Viceregal party at the Allahabad station on Monday next and accompany the Viceroy to Bombay, where His Excellency is expected to arrive on Tuesday next.

A LEVEE will be held at the Banqueting Hall, Madras, at 4 P.M. on or about the 4th December next by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. The same regulation as to cards for presentation, as will be observed in Bombay at the Prince's Levee, will be observed at Madras. Cards for presentation will be issued from the Military Secretary's office and without such card no person will be admitted.

THE Duke of Buckingham is not coming out to India to make a purse, so much as to find occupation. He has, the Madras Mail hears, £20,000 a year, and will shortly be in receipt of twice that private income. So he will probably live in some style, and not do his best to kill himself with overwork. The Neilgherries may hope to see much more of him than the plains are likely to do.

MESSRS. BROCK AND Co., the Crystal Palace pyrotechnists, are said to have already secured contracts of a gross value of Rs. 50,000 for displays of fireworks in India and Ceylon in honour of the Prince's visit. Bombay, Madras, and Madura spend Rs. 10,000 a piece, Colombo spends Rs. 5,000, and Bangalore wants to spend a similar sum. Calcutta talks of spending Rs. 15,000, and some minor cities are to have displays on a small scale.

SOME one has made an interesting calculation, probably in the department whose duty it is to attend to the matters thus reduced to figures, and the Pioneer gives it to the world in the following form :—"In the N. W. P. there is a medical institution of one kind or other for every 205,000 people. In the Punjab there is one for every 100,000 persons. Of the first class Sudder Dispensaries, with one or more trained assistant surgeons, there is one for every 870,000."

THE Prince of Wales is to have a Baboo cashier and we shall soon see a real Baboo, not of course a la Carson, in Bombay. The Indian Daily News is the privileged paper and publishes the following announcement :—"The cashier of the Government Central Press, Baboo Cally Coomar Dey, has been appointed cashier to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales during the period of his sojourn in India, on a salary of Rs. 500 per month, with an assistant on Rs. 100. The Baboo has already received his letter of appointment, and we believe, starts for Bombay to-day" (Oct. 27.)

IT is said that in conformity with orders recently issued by the Government of India, medical arrangements and equipments for the Prince of Wales's staff are now being made by the Medical Department. A Subordinate Medical Establishment has just been entertained to accompany the staff during His Royal Highness's tour to the various parts of India. The European Apothecary and the Native Doctor, who served the Duke of Edinburgh during his late visit to India, and who are now employed in the Lahore Circle, have been appointed to the Medical Establishment, and directed to proceed at once to Bombay to commence their duties.

MR. MYER D. DAVIS has been engaged for some time past in examining a batch of documents belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, and relating to the Jews residing in England during the reigns of Henry the Third and Edward the First. These records, nearly 100 in number, fell to the lot of the Abbey some time before the expulsion of the Jews from England in 1290. The documents are of a miscellaneous character, the majority of them, however, being covenants, leases, bonds, obligations, &c., entered into by several parties who lived between the years 1240 and 1275. They are represented as throwing some light upon the history of the Jews in ancient Lincoln, Canterbury, Norwich, Nottingham, &c. Three of these documents are in the handwriting of the famous Aaron of York, reputed to have been the wealthiest man in England under Henry the Third, and the original of Isaac of York, in 'Ivanhoe.' The documents abound with the names (written in the Hebrew character) of some of the leading men of England in the thirteenth century, who had money dealings with the Jews.

THE system of renting the Trincomalee Pearl Fishery is, according to Mr. Pole, the Assistant Agent, the most pernicious that could be imagined ; no restrictions are placed on the renter, and he can and has fished every oyster he can get hold of, whatever their size or age. The consequence is, remarks the Madras Times, that every year the rent becomes less and less, and for the current year there is actually no bid whatever. Thinking perhaps that there might be some dodging about this Mr. Pole recently went to the bay, which is about fifteen miles by the sea from Trincomalee. He took about twenty divers in four boats, explored nearly every part of the bay, but found only three full grown oysters, in one of which only were two badly-shaped pearls, though of a good colour ; they were valued at 50 cents. It is quite clear to Mr. Pole that the last renter had not left an oyster unturned, and even then he is said to have been a loser. This bivalve arrives at maturity in three years ; there should no fishery, therefore, be allowed for at least three years. That they will again be found, if left undisturbed, is pretty sure, for Mr. Pole found numerous seedlings or "chickens," as the natives technically call them. All that can be done at present is to set a guard to prevent any illicit fishing and this has been done.

AT a meeting of the Committee of the Agri-Horticultural Society of Madras held on the 13th instant, the undermentioned letters were read. One from Dr. King, of the Royal Botanical Gardens, Calcutta, forwarding a letter from Mr. Christopher Mudd, of the Botanical Gardens, Cambridge, enclosing a list of orchids, and asking the Society to obtain any rarer or beautiful ferns, dried or fresh ; roots, corms, bulbs or tubers of rare and beautiful plants ; sections of woods ; any fruits or seeds of interesting botanical specimens, by the time His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales shall arrive at Madras, so that Mr. Mudd can select from them and have them sent on board the Serapis. Letters from Colonel R. Benson, stating that most of the orchids named in the list could be procured by him, one being of his own discovery and named by him after Lady Londesborough that he had commenced arrangements for the collection by writing to Travancore, and that he would telegraph to Mr. Parkis in Burma ; and also a letter from Mr. Cameron, of the Lal Bagh, Bangalore, offering to render some assistance in procuring for the Society a number of such plants and dried specimens as are not to be obtained in the Society's Garden. It was resolved that Colonel Benson and Mr. Cameron be thanked for their readiness to assist, and a Sub-Committee was formed, composed of G. Bidie, Esq., M. B. ; the Hon'ble J. G. Coleman; W. W. Munsie, Esq. ; C. A. Ainslie Esq., and the Honorary Secretary, for the purpose of endeavouring to meet Mr. Mudd's requirements.

A WRITER in the Friend of India has studied the subject of the food supply of Bengal carefully, and the information which he gives throws some light upon the subject :—"In Bengal there are three great food centres,—Calcutta, Patna, and Chittagong ; and three main streams of export from the province,—from Orissa westwards to Madras ; from Calcutta, Morelganj, and Chittagong by sea to Ceylon, the Mauritius, the West Indies and to Europe ; and from Behar by railway and river to the N. W. About 2,00,00,000 maunds of food come to Calcutta yearly, of this 60,00,00 maunds are consumed in the city and its suburbs. The rest passes through for export and for transit towards the North West. Towards Patna rice is always pouring in from Nepaul and Chota Nagpore, and from the farthest parts of Eastern Bengal. These supplies are partly for Behar and partly for the N. W. P. Nearly 30,00,000 maunds of rice are brought every year to Chittagong, the third great food centre. This comes from Sylhet, Tipperah, Noakhally, Mymensing, and the Backerganj Districts, and is exported by sea. The writer in the Friend sums up the external drain upon the provinces as follows :—(1) Low down in Orissa, from which flows a steady but comparatively unimportant supply of rice coastwards to Madras ; (2) Calcutta, which taps all the provinces that surround it, near and remote ; Morellganj, which taps the Sunderbunds and the rice of Jessore ; and Chittagong which draws up all the surplus supply of the Eastern Districts ; and lastly, (3) Patna draws to itself vast supplies from the most distant parts of Bengal, and after supplying the wants of Behar therefrom, sends the residual stream on westward to Benares and Mirzapore.'"

THE Native Passenger Ships Bill was introduced into the Legislative Council of the Viceroy on the 13th instant when the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse made the following remarks :—"When this Bill was introduced, it was on account of the representations made by the British India Steam Navigation Company to the effect that they could not observe the rules laid down by the law ; and in the first instance, the Bill observed the classification of vessels and voyages established by the existing law ; but it was proposed to relieve the hardships that were felt by giving a greater power to the Executive to exempt vessels from the existing statutory rules and to make the law more efficient by empowering the Executive to make special rules for different voyages. When the Committee came to work out this proposal, it was attended by a very intelligent gentleman named Kittredge, who carried on a passenger traffic business in Bombay ; and he pointed out, in the first place, that there was a great deal of uncertainty introduced by leaving those matters to Executive rules and in the second place that the Local Governments, though they must always have a great deal to say to those rules, could not possibly deal with the matter efficiently ; because, from the very nature of the subject, the voyages to to which the rules would apply would be under the authority of no one Local Government, so that it was a matter with which only the Supreme Government could deal with quite adequately. At the same time, Mr. Kittredge suggested that voyages and ships might be classified in a different way so as to have an efficient law which yet would not work hardship. The proposals now made were founded on Mr. Kittredge's suggestions. In the first place the Committee adhered to the rule that a ship, in order to come within the provisions of the Act at all, should carry more than thirty passengers It was not worth while to carry supervision lower than that. That would alter the law as regarded the Bay of Bengal, where at present the provisions of the Act of 1859 applied to all vessels. Then, instead of making a distinction between coasting voyages as performed by steamers, and other voyages, it was proposed to divide all voyages into long and short voyages. The dividing line proposed by Mr. Kittredge was that the voyages should be a long voyage if the ship, under ordinary circumstances, would be more than four days out of port. Subsequent representations, however, had induced the Committee to extend that period to five days, and they now proposed that, if a ship, under ordinary circumstances, was likely to be more than five days out of port, that should be considered a long voyage, and all other voyages short ones. Then they had made two sets of provisions : one of a very simple character, which was to apply to short voyages and the other more elaborate and more restrictive, which was to apply to long voyages. In point of fact they were assured that the two classes of business were of a totally different kind ; that the voyages in which ships were more than five days out of port included all the pilgrimages, and all the emigration to Singapore, the Straits Settlements, and Burma ; and that the coasting traffic proper would all fall within the definition of short voyages. Having defined in the abstract what was a long and what a short voyage, the task remained to apply the definition to particular voyages. That must be the work of the Executive Government from time to time, and it was proposed to give the Executive Government power to declare with respect either to a steamer or a sailing vessel, whether a voyage should be a short or a long voyage."

AFFAIRS IN BARODA.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

BARODA, 28TH OCT.

WE had a smart shower of rain yesterday afternoon, and there was a glorious change in the atmosphere.

The authorities, conforming to the principle of "a stitch in time may save nine," have taken precautionary measures to cope with any row that may arise. The rumour is that the Inugotias (Bheels) are projecting to try their hands upon Baroda and petty neighbouring provincial towns. Consequently the British guard in the City has been strengthened to a hundred strong under the command of an European officer who has taken up quarters on the Clock-tower. Other troops in the Camp are likewise held in readiness to turn out at a moment's notice. From the State troops, two nine pounders, a detachment consisting of fifty sabres and one hundred rank and file of infantry are similarly warned, and are to be then commanded by the European officers and to immediately repair to the scene of disturbance, &c. I opine that the Bheels would not be so foolish as to risk receiving a "baptism of fire" from the breechloaders of the godees and for the sake of Rs. 50,000, which is the sum supposed by some to have been supplied to them. An outlaw, named Unoopjee, who, I hear from trustworthy sources, has for the last seven years been an outlaw and was a perfect terror to the ryots of the Kuddee-Puttun zilla and who has all along eluded the vigilance of the then drowsy police, has been captured by Lieut. Bullantine and his knot of recently organized men.

BOMBAY.

THE POLICE COURTS.—These Courts were closed yesterday on account of the Dewallee holidays.

FIRE AT BYCULLA.—A small fire broke out on Thursday night in a jawlee hut in the compound of a bungalow situated at Byculla. It was soon put out.

A VISIT TO THE GAEKWAR.—Brigadier-General Phayre visited the young Rajah, Syajeerao Gaekwar, at his temporary residence, Lall Baug, on Wednesday last.

H. H. MEER ALI MORAD KHAN.—His Highness Meer Ali Morad Khan, of Khairpore, arrived yesterday afternoon by the Amberwitch in Bombay harbour, and will land this morning. The Commissioner in Sind also arrived in the same steamer.

THE MAHARANA OF MEYWAR.—A telegram from the Political Agent, Meywar, dated Ahmedabad, 28th inst., reports that His Highness the Maharana of Meywar will arrive at Grant Road Station to-day at 4 P.M. (Bombay time.)

THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.—A telegram from the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, dated Sholapore, 29th inst., states that His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore will arrive at the Byculla Station to-day at 5-15 P.M. (Railway time.)

THE DEWALLEE AND MAHOMEDANS.—A correspondent writes to say that the Mahomedans do not keep the Dewallee festival, and that therefore their mosques were not lighted up on Wednesday night as stated. That may be quite true as far as the mosques are concerned, but that several Mahomedans do keep the Dewallee as far as lighting up their shops is concerned any one may see in passing through Bhendy Bazaar.

PROGRAMME OF MUSIC to be played by H. M.'s 20th Regiment Bombay N. I., on the General Parade Ground at 5-30 p.m. to-day :—

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

FIRE IN A SPINNING MILL.—On Thursday night last, a fire broke out on the premises of the Victoria Spinning and Weaving Mills at Chowpatty in a store-room containing cotton. The quantity of cotton in the stores was limited, and the damage is estimated not to exceed Rs. 5,000. The whole room was in flames, which were prevented from spreading to the adjacent quarters, but the roofing of it tumbled in. The Fort steam fire-engine and two manual engines rendered effective assistance to the police and the neighbours in putting out the fire. A Hindoo who was on an adjoining roof passing on buckets of water to the store-room, accidentally fell down and sustained a fracture of the left leg. The fire was suppressed in about an hour.

THE DEWALLEE.—The illuminations on Thursday night throughout Bombay were more general than on former years, and in Kalbadevi some of the houses were very fully lighted up, both inside and outside. The very large and conspicuous house belonging to Mr. Goolraj Juggonath, the banker, was very tastefully lighted up, all the windows had rows of lamps outside them and within each room were numbers of lights producing considerable effect. The streets were crowded with people and the tram-cars were all filled from Colaba to Byculla on both lines. From eight o'clock in the evening the European residents of Colaba and the Fort turned out in large numbers more than half filling the cars for two or three hours. The arrangements made by the Tramway Company were very good, several men were running before each car and inspectors and superintendents riding about and seeing that no obstructions were caused, whilst Mr. Long might be seen taking an active part in watching the working of the cars. The tramway forms a very convenient and pleasant means of locomotion on occasions of crowded streets and if managed as well during the illuminations when the Prince of Wales is in Bombay they can be run through the street without causing any obstruction, but on the contrary being a source of advantage to large numbers.

RATTAN MATS FOR BOMBAY.—The Friend-in-Need Society has just made up and forwarded a large quantity of rattan matting for the Byculla Club, Bombay. These mats are a specialty of Madras.—Madras Mail.

A TIGER AT KHANDALLA.—We hear from Khandalla that several bullocks have been destroyed by a tiger which comes up at the back of Mr Rustomjee Jamsetjee's old house and prowls about during the night in the neighbouring ravine. The tiger-trap is set and the natives are on the watch for it, but as yet without success. The people in the house and village are afraid of the animal that they dare not go out at night for fear of encountering him. When they do go out they go in bands of three or four with a light to scare the intruder into the jungles.—Deccan Herald.

THE CROPS ABOUT CALLIAN.—A friend who has been out in the districts about Callian and the villages beyond Singhur says that the crops in that neighbourhood are very promising—the rice and other grains are fuller and finer than they have been for years. There is great rejoicing throughout the district on this account. The Singhur rocks are coming out into bare and bold relief as all the ferns and wild flowers are withering away. In some clefts of the rocks to which the hot sunshine has not penetrated may be seen little clumps of fern leaves green and fresh but these are few and far between. The climate of Singhur is delightful.—Ibid.

THE DILEMMA.

(Blackwood's Magazine for October.)

THE capture and occupation of the Residency Lodge, as Sparrow's house was styled, in the night attack conducted by Falkland and recounted in our last number, gave a new aspect to the defence. It is true that the main garrison had to be reduced by the strength of the picket now established in the new outpost ; but the relief caused by the latter more than compensated for this. The guards could now be withdrawn from the east side of the main building, and those in the portico and bath-house were reduced in strength. Moreover, the ground between the two buildings was now practically free from fire. The moral effect of the victory was even greater. Not only had the enemy made no progress in their blockade ; they had been forced to give ground. Falkland was sensible, indeed, that he had made a blunder in not occupying the Lodge in the first instance, but was consoled by the reflection that even the most successful war is made up of blunders ; and although poor Braywell's cheerful face was missed, and the little garrison could ill spare the gap made by the night's work in its slender muster-roll, still the loss sustained was extremely small considering the nature of the service. The garrison was naturally, therefore, in high spirits next morning, and a sense of excitement pervaded the building. Those were to be envied who were sent over to the Lodge on errands with supplies or messages, giving them the opportunity to examine for themselves the scene of the exploit ; while for the rest the account of the affair which those who had come back after taking part in it were called on to repeat in the different parts of the building, afforded matter for endless conversation and questionings. Miss Peart wanted to run across under Sprague's escort to see the place herself, but was stopped by her mother. No sign of the enemy could now be discerned from the main building, except by the look-out on the roof ; and, from the absence of any present danger, it seemed as if the active siege were really over, and that at most they would now have to undergo a blockade, which must surely be raised very soon. Colonel Falkland had calculated that the relief would arrive in a week at latest, and four days had already passed.

Four days ! it might have been a year, so long did the time seem since they were first shut up, and so completely had the emergency of present needs effaced for the time all interest in the past. The few acres of ground commanded by the rifles of the little garrison made up their world ; and beyond an occasional expression listlessly thrown out as to how things might be passing in the rest of India the conversation within it dwelt on the business of the hour. The last reports of the look-out man of any movements observed among the enemy, whose main camp was still pitched beyond the court-house about half a mile off, and the interpretation to be put upon them ; any change ordered in the roster for duty ; counting the hours till it should be safe to serve out to the rations of tobacco ; conjectures on the toughness of the mutton stew, which formed the main item of their simple meals ; calculations whose turn it was to receive a share of the beer which Captain Buxey doled out with economic care,—these were for the most part the topics of conversation.

At first sight the appearance presented by the interior of the building during this time might have seemed one of disorder ; here and there in the verandas men lying asleep on cots at any hour of the day, others strolling listlessly from place to place to exchange a word with their comrades at other posts, while in the drawing-room a group of persons might be seen lounging about, the etiquette of manners preserved among them being strangely at variance with their haggard and dishevelled appearance ; a few only of the men wore coats over their shirts or under waistcoats, which with dirty white or flannel trousers made up a costume in keeping with the unshorn and hot but pallid faces of the wearers ; while of the ladies' garb the best that could be said was that it was feminine, the women having for the most part abandoned any attempt at adornment as well as at trying to keep cool, and wearing their hair tied in a knot at the back of the head. A few fanned themselves when they had leisure, but generally the heat was allowed to take its course as something too fierce to be contended with. Not that the room looked untidy ; of the servants who had remained with their master, two belonged to the sweeper caste, and performed his customary functions of sweeping all the floors daily, while the ladies took it in turn to dust the furniture. Nor amid the seeming listlessness or movement about the place was there any real disorder or want of discipline. Only those were asleep who were off duty, and only a fourth part of each of the different guards could be absent from their post at a time. A sentry was stationed at the head-quarters of each post who, standing on a table so as to look over the parapet, watched the ground in front. There was always also a look-out man on the roof of the building ; the rounds were made every hour by a senior officer ; and whether on or off duty, every one had his weapons with him ready for instant use. At night the garrison was on the alert, so sleep must be taken by day. The ladies, too, had their regular turn of duty in the sick-room, while Mrs. Hodder and Mrs. DeSouza, the clerk's wife, undertook the washing of such garments as could be spared for the purpose. Thus all were occupied, with the exception only of Mrs. O'Halloran, the wife of the bazaar-sergeant who had been killed on the night of the outbreak, an East Indian, who although the mother of two children and soon to be the mother of a third, looked but a child herself. Such mental and bodily powers as the poor creature might have possessed, had become quite paralysed by the shock of events. Having found her way to the Residency on the night of the outbreak, in the carriage in which her husband had placed his wife and children before he went off himself to get what he could out of the city, she seemed incapable of rousing herself to do anything, but sat day after day listlessly in a chair, speaking when addressed, and coming to table at meal-times, but taking no apparent interest in what was going on around. Fortunately Mrs. Hodder had taken the children under her care, washing them and dressing them in their scanty clothes every morning, while Miss Peart helped her to look after them during the day ; and the poor dusky little things, who partook more of the nature of native than European children, were perfectly docile and contented, amusing themselves happily with the little rag dolls which that young lady had fabricated for them out of any stuff that would serve for the purpose, and

This Company has been formed for the purpose of trading with Turkistan, Kashmir, and Afghanistan, as well as in the Punjab, and will take over the good will, business, and property of the present Central Asian Trading Company, for a sum of £6,000, or Rs. 60,000.

The Maharajah of Kashmir has appointed the present Company the Sole Agents, for sale in Europe and America, of the manufactures and products of his country. He will make over this engagement to the new Company and give it all the support and aid in his power. His Excellency the Diwan Kirpa Ram, Prime Minister of the State of Kashmir, is a shareholder in the old Company and will, with the other shareholders, transfer his investment to the new Company.

The Manager and Shareholders of the old Company are now thoroughly acquainted with the class and quality of Goods most in demand in the countries named. Experience has shown them what produce to take in exchange from native traders, with reference to both European and Indian markets. It is certain that a large and lucrative trade already exists, and that it is capable of vast extension.

The large profits at present realised on the Goods procured from Yarkand lead the present Directors to look with the utmost confidence to the results of the future trade. Valuable experience has been gained, and the concessions alone obtained from His Highness the Maharajah of Kashmir are of great value.

Warehouses will be established at Srinagur and Peshawur and eventually at Leh. At the two former places buildings have been already arranged for Caravans will not at present be sent to Yarkand. All transactions will take place at the warehouses for cash only or by barter.

Further particulars may be obtained from Mr. T. RUSSELL at Murree, who will be happy to afford any information.

Several Gentlemen of influence and position have joined the Company, and shares have been already taken up.

Applications for shares should be made to the Company's Bankers at Rawul Pindee, Lahore, Mooltan, Murree, Calcutta, or Bombay, in the form appended, and accompanied by a deposit of Re 1 a share.

A further payment of Rs. 4 a share will be required on 1st January 1876. Notice of not less than three months will be given for further calls, which will not exceed Rs. 25 a share.

T. RUSSELL,
Manager C. A. T. Company.

(OZONIC OXYGEN)

THE NEW CURATIVE AGENT, AND ONLY RELIABLE REMEDY FOR NERVOUS AND LIVER COMPLAINTS.

THIS Phosphatic combination is pronounced by the most eminent members of the Medical Profession to be unequalled for its power in replenishing the vitality of the body, by its supplying all the organic essential constituents of the blood and nerve substance, and for developing all the powers and functions of the system to the highest degree.

It is agreeable to the taste, and innocent in its action, while retaining all its extraordinary properties; and, as a specific, surpassing all the known therapeutic agents of the present day for the speedy and permanent cure of—

|---|---|
| Nervous Prostration | Trembling of the hands and limbs |
| Liver Complaints | Impaired Nutrition |
| Palpitation of the Heart | Mental and Physical Depression |
| Dizziness | Consumption (in its first stages only) |
| Noises in the Head and Ears | Timidity |
| Loss of Energy and Appetite | Eruptions of the Skin |
| Hypochondria | Impaired Sight and Memory |
| Female Complaints | Nervous Fancies |
| General Debility | Impoverished Blood |
| Indigestion | Nervous Debility in all its |
| Flatulence | Stages |
| Incapacity for Study or business | Premature Decline |
| Sick Headache | |
| Lassitude | |
| Shortness of Breadth | |

and all morbid conditions of the system arising from whatever cause. The action of the Phosphodyne is twofold—on the one hand increasing the principle which constitutes nervous energy, and on the other the most powerful blood and flesh generating agent known; therefore, a marvellous medicine for renovating impaired and broken-down constitutions. It quickly improves the functions of assimilation to such a degree, that where for years an emaciated, anxious, cadaver us, and semi-vital condition has existed, the flesh will rapidly increase in quantity and firmness, and the whole system return to a state of robust health. The Phosphodyne acts electrically upon the organisation; for instance, it assists nature to generate that human electricity which renovates and refreshes the serious, muscular, nervous, membranous, and organic systems It operates on the system without exciting care or thought upon the individual as to the process. It moves the lungs, liver, heart, kidneys stomach, and intestines, with a harmony, vigour, yet mildness unparalleled in medicine.

The Phosphodyne gives back to the human structure, insuitable forms, the phosphoric or animating element of life, which has been wasted, and exerts an important influence directly on the spinal marrow and nervous system, of a nutritive, tonic and invigorating character, maintaining that buoyant energy of the brain and muscular system which renders the mind cheerful, brilliant and active, overcoming that dull, inactive, and sluggish disposition which many persons experience in all their actions.

The beneficial effects of the Phosphodyne are frequently shown from the first day of its administration, by a remarkable increase of nervous power with a feeling of vigour and comfort, to which the patient has long been unaccustomed. Digestion is improved; the appetite increases wonderfully; the bowels become regular; the eyes brighter; the skin clear and healthy; and the hair acquires strength, showing the importance of the action of the Phosphodyne on the organs of nutriti n.

Finally, the Phosphodyne maintains a certain degree of activity in the previously debilitated nervous system; its use enables all debilitated organs to return to their sound state and perform their natural functions. Persons suffering from Nervous Debility or any of the hundred symptoms which this distressing disease assumes, may rest assured of an effectual and even speedy cure by the judicious use of this most invaluable remedy.

DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE IS SOLD ONLY
IN CASES at 10s. 6d. by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors throughout the Globe.

Full Directions for Use, in the English, French, German, Italian and Dutch Languages, accompany each Case.

CAUTION.—The large and increasing demand for Dr. Bright's Phosphodyne has led to several imitations under somewhat similar names; purchasers of this medicine should therefore be careful to observe
